

A Grateful Refugee Kids Recollections

I learned in college that Happiness is the Summum Bonum and concluded that if work couldnt be fun, it would mess up my life. And my family deserved a happy dad. Recently, a brilliant friend asked if there was anything I would have done differently in life or anything I missed doing and would like to accomplish. My answer: Not a thing! Its been a very good life, and were it not for the Nazis, I would never have gotten to Amerike, nor benefited from Americas largesse - a free education, meaningful career, and to roam the world with my wife, enjoying wonderful vistas and meeting great people in a 20-year consulting career. As you read ahead, you may find some of the technical stuff tedious. Just skip what we learned from some of the best companies in the world, that I thought were still relevant today and share our adventures.
