

Make your own Ingredients

When you make your own food, you know what goes in it. When you make the ingredients you use to make your food, you know even more. The results are healthier meals, greater freedom for creativity, peace of mind for people with intolerances, and no more straining the eyes trying to read tiny, blurred ingredients lists on the back of packets. Whether you are a kitchen newbie or an experienced cook, you may have found yourself wondering how to further reduce reliance on store-bought food. Make your own Ingredients shows you how to do this by making some of the ingredients required for your favourite recipes. Why buy yoghurt when you can make your own for a fraction of the cost? Why buy spice blends when you can blend your own and adjust the ratios to suit your own palate? Why buy stock cubes that have ingredients lists only scientists can decipher? Make your cooking more personal by getting down to the most basic ingredients. You can make your own taco shells if you wish. You can blend your own spices, mix your own herbs, make pasta from scratch and even brew your own vinegar and grind your own flours. You may have already taken a step away from factory food. Now you can take a step even further away. Make your own Ingredients. Includes recipes and instructions for Dairy Products Dairy-Free Fat Flour and Meal Bread Products Pastry Pasta Stock Sauces Dressings Stuffing Mixes Purees (Pastes) Dried and Powdered Vegetables Herb Blends Spice Blends, Seasonings and Rubs Marinades Vinegar Flavour Extracts and Colourings Sweet Treat Ingredients
