

Howtogetbetternow: Lets Talk About You!

Lets talk about you. Yes, you. Feeling so blah that you can barely pick up the phone. Scared that something is wrong with you that youll never be able to fix. You, who would never, ever go to a therapists office but are still curious about what happens behind those closed doors. Maybe youre in search of a more hopeful future, or maybe the price of a book fits your budget much better than the cost of seeing a counselor. No matter what your reasons are, Margaret Harrison, LMFT, LPC, is here to help you focus on the solutions to lifes most perplexing problems. And although shes backed by more than thirty years of counseling experience, you wont find any complicated psych-speak herejust fun and feisty, down-to-earth wisdom that cuts out all the clinical mumbo jumbo, replacing it with ideas that are instantly readable and relatable. Whether youre battling procrastination or looking for ways to put your best foot forward, the tidbits contained in Howtogetbetternow focus on making your problems smallerby making the solutions bigger.
