

Lauras world was perfect. She had married the man of her dreams and was living a fairy tale life. Then suddenly, he was gone and her perfect world crumbled. When you lose someone you love with all your heart, how do you survive? Losing a spouse or life long partner is devastating, and there is nothing anyone can do or say to lessen your grief or pain. However, it helps to know that you are not alone. Others have experienced this same heartache and survived. Some have even learned how to enjoy life and laugh again. This is a book about one of those people. Its purpose is to offer hope where there seems to be none.
