

Reasons To Believe

How does one go from material-building to spirit-building in the modern world? Can one reconcile a sense of spirituality and God with what contemporary society tells us is reality? Is it possible for God to exist today? Using both science and scripture, Dr. Robert Lefavi carefully examines those aspects of living today that keep us from fully acknowledging and nurturing our spirituality. With truth and reconciliation as themes, Lefavi builds a case, using clarity and simple language, for the harmony between belief in God and reason. With reasons to believe, Lefavi argues, we can see past the thick veil of today's secularism; only then can we begin a process of spiritual growth, based upon an awareness of God and God's continuing role in our lives.
