How many secrets can a family keep? If theres one thing Rebecca knows, its how to keep her problems under wraps. Its easy to keep your mouth shut when you have no friends. But with a rock-and-roll dad who drinks too much and a mom who works day and night, Rebecca needs a sympathetic ear. Thats why she tells her troubles to Yvette, an antique doll that once belonged to her grandmother. In the summer of 1986, after her fathers strange disappearance, Rebecca and her little brother are sent to stay at the cottage with Aunt Libby and Uncle Flip. Its more like a brightly-painted storage locker than a cottage, but Rebeccas relieved to get away from the city. And her relief grows to bliss when she meets Tiffany, a water-skiing blonde who dresses like Madonna, makes her own jewelry, and claims to see auras. But strange things happen at the cottage when Rebecca spends time with Tiffany. Her aunt and uncle are convinced shes acting out -- and shed have good reason to, considering they obviously know where her father is and wont say -- but she cant seem to convince them she isnt the one trashing her bedroom and setting fires. As crazy as it seems, Yvette must be the culprit. Theres nothing more dangerous than a jealous doll that knows all your secrets...
